Local News.

—December court sits next Tuesday.

—The Free Press says these are the saddest days of the year for the turkey family.

—The Index was particularly spicy last week, some of its election hits being unusually good.

—Thanksgiving services at the South church to-morrow morning at 10.30, with sermon by Rev. E. T. Fairbanks.

—O. H. Hale is about to re-open his old store in the Avenue House block.

—A variety store is also opened in the same block.

—The legislature was to adjourn early Wednesday morning so the "wisdom and virtue" of the state can take their Thanksgiving dinners with family friends.

—The public school children feel de-frauded in having only one day's recess at Thanksgiving when the academy gives four or five days.

—The pedestrians on Cliff street have been surprised by the village trustees putting down a good plank sidewalk from Fairbanks' village to Church street.

—The shoe firm of Miner & Esty is dissolved. Miner has gone west to grow up with the country and Esty will carry on business alone at the old stand opposite the St. Johnsbury House.

—My wife wants to take The Caledonian one year in place of that Lauenburg subscriber," said a well-known Spring street man Friday morning as he walked into this office and plunked down a dollar and seventy-five cents.

—The new skating rink erected by Thatcher & Co., of Brattleboro, nearly on the site of the old Tremont, is to be open Thanksgiving day evening with music by the band and an exhibition of fancy skating by George Doane.

—J. Clark Higgins died on Thursday. He had long suffered from heart disease, and his fatal illness was complicated with pneumonia. He was son of the late John Higgins of this town and brother of Sebastian Wm. Higgins. He leaves a wife and young child.

—There was a heavy rain Sunday night accompanied by a strong south wind. The wind attained great violence in some parts of the country and a good deal of damage was done telegraph wires. Quite an earthquake shock was felt in Concord, Keene, and other New Hampshire towns.

—On consultation with the principal of the academy we find that the street rumors concerning the expulsion of several students are false, as street rumors frequently are. For persistence in disobedience and indifference to their school work after repeated admonitions, five students have been temporarily suspended.

—It is with genuine regret that the first lecture of the course comes Thanksgiving evening, but the time was fixed for the lecture before the festival day was proclaimed and the lecturer's engagements were such that the lecture could not be changed. Mr. Wendling is a favorite with St. Johnsbury audiences and we anticipate a fine lecture.

—R. C. Knight being in ill health is going with his family to Florida for the winter. The boarding house has been leased to O'Brien Chase of Tannum, Mass. Mr. Chase has had long experience as hotel proprietor and is widely known as a popular landlord. Mr. Knight expects to sail from New York Dec. 5, with Mr. and Mrs. Greenblatt.

—There is a dead soldier on Maple street, named Josiah, a member of the famous Eleventh Vermont regiment, who has been waiting five years for a pension—and is waiting yet. If any of our readers wake up to-morrow morning very thankful and don't know how to express their gratitude, here is an opportunity. No charge for the suggestion.

—One A. C. McIntire who has worked awhile for Wheeler Thomas, sewing machine agent, had an examination Monday before Justice Johnson and is held for trial at the county court. McIntire's offence is the taking of Myra Bagley from Barre and traveling with her as his wife, while Myra had a husband and child at home. Mr. Bagley captured his wife and went to Massachusetts and Sheriff Sullivan captured McIntire.

—Some people think the course of entertainments this winter begins at too late an hour. We understand the committee wish to accommodate the hour to the greatest number, and from the tardiness of some in getting waked last winter they thought eight o'clock was the best hour. The management would gladly fix an earlier hour if people showed a disposition to be prompt. In some places the doors are closed at the opening of a concert and the late-comers are kept outside until the first selection is finished.

—Harvey Gibbs, one of our aged citizens, and father of Floris C. F. Gibbs, died on Tuesday after a short but painful illness. Mr. Gibbs was born in Hartford, Vt., but came to this town from Thetford four years ago. Mr. Gibbs buried his wife three years ago. Two brothers and two sisters survive him.—Lorenzo Colby was buried in this place yesterday. He was son of Daniel Colby, the lumberman, and he died in Victory. He leaves a family.

A Fine Concert Coming.

The second entertainment of the young men's course will be given next Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, by the English ballad concert company. The names of this company appear in the general advertisement elsewhere, and they have all been heard in this place more than once, except DeKontski, the pianist. He is said to be a remarkable player and composer, and has met with great favor in both this country and Europe. The vocalists are all first-class, as many of our readers will know. Evening tickets of admission will be graded from 50 cents to 25 cents.

Personal.

Rev. C. M. Southgate has begun his labors with the new Pilgrim church at Worcester, Mass.

Rev. George W. Osgood, lately pastor of the Congregational church at Littleton, N. H., spent the Sabbath with his brother-in-law, Dr. Perkins, in this place.

Dr. Albert C. Adrich has located in town and is temporarily stopping at R. C. Knight's until an office is furnished for him. Dr. Adrich is from Boston, and has been practicing in Rhode Island Hospital since his graduation in '83.

David Trull has sold his hotel at West Burke and will soon remove to St. Johnsbury. It is said that Judge C. T. A. Humphrey of East Burke soon expects to make his home here.

A Fatal Drunk.

George E. Louger, who has peddled fish about these parts for a few years past, came home from a neighboring town last Thursday evening, under the influence of liquor, as usual, and overloading an old mule went out into the yard and, holding the gun up over his head discharged it. The gun barrel burst, mangleing one hand so that amputation was necessary, and badly injuring the other arm. It was thought from the first that his blood was so poisoned that he could not survive the shock, and he died Sunday evening. He leaves a wife and children. The event points its own moral.

Sale of Lecture Tickets.

The auction sale for choice of seats for the winter course of entertainments Friday evening was unusually spirited, and never was so much money realized at any previous sale. As the hall is large and so many desirable seats could be secured, this was unexpected. Three hundred and twenty tickets were sold the first evening at an aggregate premium of $225, making the total amount of the sale about $1,000. Since then there have been about the same number of tickets sold so that the expense of the course—about $600—is already assured. What more money is taken will be so much towards the debt on the hall.

Sale of St. Johnsbury House.

As announced two weeks ago, E. E. Bedell, proprietor of the Jefferson Hill house, Jefferson, N. H., has purchased the St. Johnsbury house and all the real estate of Jerry Drew for $23,000. The past week Samuel W. Hall and Lucius Thatcher have been appraising the furniture and Mr. Drew and Mr. Bedell have inventoried the supplies preparatory to a transfer of proprietorship which will probably take place in a day or two. The furniture was appraised at nearly $4,000. Mr. Bedell has acquired a good reputation as hotel proprietor in New Hampshire, and our citizens and the traveling public will be glad that the St. Johnsbury house has fallen into so good hands. W. A. Little will continue behind the counter, of course. It would not be the St. Johnsbury house without him.

Another Crushing Sorrow.

It is with deep sadness that we announce the death of Edith Doying, who was laid in the cemetery beside her sister and three brothers last Sabbath afternoon. Every remembrance of this sweet little girl is a pleasure to all who knew her, for she was one of earth's choicest treasures, soon fitted for a place in the Savior's diadem. Her bright, sunny face, and her affectionate, clinging love, and her gentle, responsive nature, all seemed to foretell the early call to the loving care of Him who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me." Surely heaven will be never and dearer for this sweet angel there. In less than four weeks three beautiful children have been taken from this earthly home, and the broken, bleeding heart of tender love left in their place. Many tears of sympathy mingle with those of this stricken family, and prayers ascend to the God of all comfort that they may be sustained in this crushing sorrow.

Music Hall.

Some Facts and Figures, and Persons who have had to do with its Construction.

It was a fortunate thing for our town when Messrs. Horace and Franklin Fairbanks offered the old North church and its valuable site to the Young Men's Christian Association. If they would build thereupon a public hall, a commodious, comfortable, well-lighted and well-ventilated hall has long been one of the two things our town has lacked. But with such a valuable property as was thus offered the association, it was an small matter to utilize it to the best advantage, and nothing but persistent effort and never failing courage on the part of the committee and other members of the association could have led to the results which we see to-day. The association early elected the following committee to carry on the work: Edward A. Walker, Geo. L. Bradley, C. H. Horton,

W. L. Pearl, C. H. Marshall, A. H. McLeod, A. B. Noyes, W. W. Sprague, M. W. Angier, W. S. Boynton. Afterwards the following sub-committee was chosen, which has been the working committee all through the campaign: E. A. Walker, G. L. Bradley, C. H. Marshall, A. B. Noyes, W. S. Boynton.

Music hall has cost over $14,000 besides the site and building thereon. Some $10,000 have been collected by subscription, all except $100, given by Dudley P. Hall of Lyndon, having been subscribed by our own citizens. Some of the largest subscriptions are those of Horace Fairbanks, $1250; Franklin Fairbanks, $1200; Henry Fairbanks, $1000; L. P. Poland, $500; T. M. Howard, $300. Several other citizens paid $250, others $200, $100, and so on down the scale, the smallest subscription being a widow's fifty cents. The total number of contributors is two hundred, and some who paid the smallest sums gave liberally according to their means.

The building was designed by Lambert Packard, architect, and built on contract by Wm. J. Bray. The design and fine decorations were by Lyndon Arnold. The hall is seated with 1102 chairs at a cost of $2000. Each chair has a wire hat-rack underneath, and a cane and umbrella rest in front. The chairs were furnished by Baker, Pratt & Co., New York. Chas. Richardson & Co., of Boston, made a gift of the paint for the outside, and Cyrus T. Clark, fresco artist of the same city, mixed the colors for the outside work. The Noyes Manf. Co., of Boston also gave a gas regulator for the building.

Underneath the hall are three fine stores with large plate-glass windows and handsome entrances. These stores are for rental, as are also a suite of rooms on the third floor, front. On the same floor with the hall are two pleasant rooms, one of which is rented to Miss Frazee M. Guy for her artist studio, and the other to J. H. Humphrey, teacher of vocal music. The building is warmed with three furnaces and has two doors of exit in the rear, besides the front entrance. Dressing rooms for performers on the stage are on the first floor and are supplied with every convenience. This in brief tells the story of St. Johnsbury's latest cause of congratulation, a suitable public hall. All those who have had to do with its construction should have the thanks of the public.

The Opening of Music Hall.

A beautiful Hall, a Fine Concert—A Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

"What a beautiful place!" was the exclamation of nearly every one of the large audience on Thursday evening who saw the interior of Music hall for the first time. It is indeed a beautiful hall—commodious, easy of access, handsomely and appropriately decorated, with an easy seat for every ticket-holder. It was fitting too that this hall should be dedicated with an entertainment made up wholly with local talent. It gave our people a better impression of the musical capabilities of the place than anything they have previously heard. The program of the evening was published in the last issue of this paper, and was rendered by the Ladies' club of eleven voices under the direction of Mrs. Percy V. Hazen, a Male chorus of about forty voices and the St. Johnsbury band, both directed by Mr. W. H. Herrick.

The Ladies' club sang beautifully. The voices blend and harmonize very finely, and the expression—the light and shade—was excellent, showing the result of much practice and careful and intelligent direction. The "Evening song" pleased us most, but the singing and dash of the "Song of the Triton," made it most attractive to the audience and called out one of the heartiest encores of the evening.

There are fine voices in the Male chorus—so that so many can be found in the village is surprising. If the singing of the chorus left something to be desired in precision and expression, it is doubtless due to the short time allowed for preparation and the difficulty in attending rehearsals in these stirring election times. They received a well deserved encore for their fine rendering of "To thee, O country," and excellent things may be expected of them in the future.

That the Band would play well was expected, but there was a neatness and finish about their playing which gave the audience a genuine surprise. The correct solo won the most favor from the audience and was finely played by Mr. Ratschelder. The overture was bright and taking and the Maritana selection very beautiful—the passage for the lower instruments toward the close was particularly well done. Mr. Herrick is fully justified in the pride he feels in the fine body of musicians under his direction.

The Quartet is a light, pleasing composition and was well sung by the fine choir of the South church, who in addition to good voices have the farther advantage of having sung together for a long time. For an encore they gave "Jack and Jill," which is very funny, and with the spirit and vim they put into it pleased the audience greatly.

If last in order of mention, certainly not least in merit, was the piano solo of Miss C. Howard. Many will regret that such a pianist is to remove from town.

It was a happy idea of having the whole musical force together for a closing piece, and the performers quite closed the large stage. Probably the choral was the most available for such a purpose, though it seemed in strange company next the almost rollicking strains of the "Merry War" selection. It was given however with great volume and fullness, with all the voices in unison on the melody, and the band playing the harmony, and made a dignified close to a fine concert.

A Benefit to the Performers.

At the close of the Thursday evening concert it was decided to repeat the same on Monday evening for the benefit of the three organizations that took part. This was done and the same program was followed in the main. Some parts were even done better than at the previous concert. The band played very finely indeed and the audience got worked up to the merits of the case in the "Maritana" and demanded a repetition. The proceeds of the house were $70, which, after paying expenses, will leave a little surplus, but not half as much as we wish it was. We learn that the organizations referred to afterwards voted to give the net proceeds to W. H. Herrick, the director, who has been nurturing in his musical work in this place, and by whose taste and ability the band has been brought to such a success.

List of Petit Jurors.

The following jurors have been drawn to serve at the December term of court which begins next Tuesday: Barnett, J. P. Miller, Andrew Lackie, Burke, D. W. Cushing, Adolbert L. Aldrich, Danville, M. V. Barnet.

The funeral of Mrs. Nelson Scott, who died at Brockton, Mass., was attended here Tuesday. She was formerly of this place.

The Ladies' society will give an entertainment on Friday evening of this week.

East Burke.

Mrs. Daniel Gilson has been very sick the past week with diphtheria, but is now comfortable at present.—Mrs. Duff died Saturday morning.

There will be an open lodge in Good Templars hall, Friday evening of this week. There will be literary exercises by the lodge and afterwards a social.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. church next Saturday and Sunday.—Services Thanksgiving day in the M. E. church at 11 o'clock.

The Scribner girls are home again.—Mrs. John Hunt, who has been in poor health for some time, goes this week to Boston for treatment.

Harris Bemis has hired out for a year to work on a large farm in Ryegate. His family will join him there in the course of two or three weeks.

West Concord.

S. M. Matthews has moved his family to South Lauenburg, and C. A. Tilton has moved into his house.

Mrs. John Barker is very low with typhoid fever.

William Allen has moved his harness shop into the village.

D. H. Morton has bought the meat market of C. A. Tilton and will continue at the old stand.

G. R. Emery has bought the Woodward farm of D. W. Hibbard. Price $2500.

A. O. Waters, who has been in the employ of C. H. Dudley the past year, started for California this week.

The Ladies' circle will hold their annual fair in the vestry of the M. E. church Wednesday evening, Dec. 3.

Sheffield.

The Ladies' aid society hold their next gathering at the Free Baptist parsonage one week from next Friday, afternoon and evening.

There is to be a donation visit for Rev. I. P. Chase next week Thursday afternoon and evening.

Aaron Hanson's family are in deep affliction—a daughter died of diphtheria at Barton, a son is sick with the same disease at home, and a daughter is sick in Boston.

Sutton.

The demonstrators of Sutton celebrated last Saturday afternoon and evening with guns, fireworks and an excellent supper. Several leading republicans were present by invitation. The divine blessing was invoked at the table and remarks, congratulatory and conciliatory, offered by Rev. F. L. Wiley. Mr. Wiley is a loyal republican but not a political bigot. Mr. John E. Willard also presented spicy toasts fitting the occasion. The whole affair was characterized by good order and a spirit of mutual charity. We append some of the sentiments:

1. The Ladies of Sutton:—Whether providing for a great religious gathering, a ministerial donation, or a political assembly; their hospitalities are boundless and they always preside with grace.

2. In behalf of the Republicans here present:—We congratulate the successful political party. Though Mr. Cleveland may ascend to his appointed position as our second choice, yet when there he will be president, not of any one political party but of this great nation. As such he will be our president, and we shall unite with all good citizens in singing "Hail to the Chief" and praying "God bless the president of these United States."

3. May the near future usher in the time when all bitter political animosity shall cease in our land, and when the only rivalry between political parties shall be to see which shall, in the event of success, best administer the government of this great nation, or in the event of defeat, accept the situation most gracefully.

4. After having passed through the exciting political campaign of 1884, and duly celebrated the results, let us turn with equal zest to the common duties of life, thankful to God that whatever political party we represent, we are all the favored citizens of the grandest nation the sun ever shone upon. Henceforth let us recognize each other, not as political rivals, but as neighbors, citizens and Christians. Mr. Wiley preached on the political status, as a Thanksgiving sermon last Sabbath and the general feeling of the public seems to be—"Let there be peace."

Vermont News.

The Bellows Falls democrats "celebrated" in eight inches of snow.

The University of Vermont has 346 students, as against 271 last year.

Mrs. Melinda Bowley, eighty years of age, a resident of Brattleboro, is suing for a divorce.

Mrs. Eliza Hibbard of Poufret has secured a pension of eight dollars a month and $716 back pay, on account of her husband's services.

Mrs. C. Dutton of Windham, who retired well and strong Thursday night was found dead in bed Friday morning.

Sydney Filley of Williston caught a 19-pound pickerel, three feet five inches long, in Shelburn pond.

Herbert M. Adams of Barnard lost a thumb and part of a finger from the bursting of a gun while firing at a squirrel.

George W., son of Russell Davis, of North Duxbury, while engaged in a fight with a scuffle with Almon Hart, had one leg broken in two places below the knee.

Rev. N. W. Scott of the Vermont Methodist conference, died in Glover the 9th, aged 83 years. He was 34 years in effective work and 24 on the supernumerary list.

The Montpelier democracy celebrated on Thursday to the best of their ability, and made things lively about the town, day and night.

While Ed. Reuslow of Chelsea was using an iron wedge, a portion of it flew, striking him in the eye, cutting a gash in the ball, so he will lose the sight.

At Rutland, William Smith was sentenced to the state prison for eighteen years for an outrageous assault in Chittenden upon a nine-years-old girl. Two unsuccessful attacks on young women are also charged against Smith.

Ex-Gov. Stewart of Vermont and other officers of Middlebury college have waited upon the Rev. Kerr C. Anderson, D. D., of the First Presbyterian church of Troy, and asked him to accept the presidency of the college. Dr. Anderson has the matter under consideration.

George Hayward of South Royanton attempted suicide the 19th but was discovered in season to save life. He had been despondent for some time, on account of failure to get a pension.

Geo. H. Higdon, who has been in poor health for some time, recently left for New York city for treatment. His many friends will hope for his early recovery.

Fred A. Richardson of Brattleboro paid an election wager by wheeling one ballot in to Chittenden. The military band accompanied the procession and several hundred people witnessed the start.

The appointment of Judge Walker of Ludlow to the supreme court bench leaves the Ludlow probate judgeship vacant, and Hugh Henry of Chester and Gilbert A. Davis of Windsor are scrambling for the place.

Why not? Of the five pastors of Montpelier churches, two voted for Cleveland and the other three for St. John. Why don't they betrayed and outraged congregations hang them in effigy?—Hudey.

Sheriff Barton placed Thomas M. Billings in jail for burning the unoccupied house of Daniel Sargent of Orange, not long since. He is 84 years old, without friends or money, and some think his object in doing so was to obtain a steady place for the winter.

The election obligation of E. K. Voady to C. H. Carter was paid at Montpelier last week. Mr. Voady wheeled his creditor from the shops of the Lane Manufacturing company to the postoffice building on a wheelbarrow with cushions seat and gaily decorated with flags and bunting and bearing aloft at its front a genuine eagle. They were escorted by the Montpelier band in full uniform and by C. F. Collins as color bearer.

Charles Henry of Westford, a young man about 20, while butchering fell backward into a kettle of boiling water scalding his back from his knees to his neck in a fearful manner. The book publisher is driving the hog on the platform. Mr. Henry is comfortable as could be expected and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

As a little daughter of Mrs. Lyman of Albany was attempting to climb up the side of a barn in a barn where a machine was threshing, her clothes caught in the arbor of the wheel and wound them up whirling her several times around the arbor before the machine could be stopped. The clothes were nearly torn from her body and her head came only a few inches from the brake at each revolution. It is thought that she sustained no serious injury.

News of the Week.

A site has been selected in Washington for the new United States Capitol building at the foot of the Capitol grounds, at the intersection of First street and Maryland avenue, S. W.

It is estimated that the state of Pennsylvania is losing $25,720,724 a year through the suspension of coal mining in the Anthracite region.

In Pittsburg Friday, a runaway horse-car, which had got beyond the control of the driver during the passage of a heavy grade, ran down and killed the horses and badly bruised twenty-three passengers.

A. C. L. Sawyer, the janitor of the Hotel Helen at South Boston, who left his wife to save the three children while he ran through the building to warn the tenants, has been rewarded for his faithfulness by the death of two children. The suoker was very drunk and his wife was overpowered in her efforts to rescue her boy and could not return for the two girls. The firemen searched for them twice, but they were so far gone when found that they died Friday forenoon.

State Treasurer Coudry of New Hampshire has already received claims for bounties on 27,465 woodchucks. There is still a large portion of the state to be hunted, which will probably bring the number up to 50,000.

Charles A. Hill of Newton paid an election bet by eating a rawston cow in Boston yesterday.

Dr. Charles P. Bancroft, superintendent of the Concord insane asylum, was attacked by a patient named Pitman, Sunday, and knocked down with a spittoon. His head was bruised; but it will take several days to find out how badly he is hurt.

Local Notices.

A GRATEFUL PATIENT OF DR. GAGE. Our well-known townsman, Mr. Frank Wheelock, is quite elated over his rapid recovery under Dr. Gage's treatment, and states that he has already gained seven pounds. He has been treated by eminent physicians of Boston, Portland, Montreal and at home, but they did not hit his case as Dr. Gage has. "Frank" has the congratulations of his many friends in Newport, who will avail themselves of the doctor's visit to the St. Johnsbury House, Thursday, Nov. 27; Bellevue House, Newport, Friday 28.—[Newport Express.

A MARVELOUS CURE BY DR. GAGE. To whom it may concern: Words are inadequate to express my gratitude to Dr. Gage for my miraculous restoration to health. I was afflicted with spinal disease which had caused total loss of power in my lower extremities—could not move a foot the least particle—and my bowels had not only become entirely constipated, but the kidneys and bladder had become so affected that I was obliged to use a catheter twice a day. I was unable to be carried to him, and therefore as a last resort was treated by him without the advantage of a personal interview. It was a perfect success, for in a few weeks I was cured of the kidney and bladder diseases, the strength gradually returned to my limbs, until to-day I visited the doctor at St. Johnsbury to tender my heart-felt gratitude which words are inadequate to express. Sincerely yours, CHARLES L. BURGESS, North Montpelier, N. H.

THROUGH THE ROOF OF THE MOOTH. Anna Young, Esq., of Derby Depot, N. H., has been a great sufferer from scrofula and catarrh. When he applied to Dr. Gage, in this city, the disease had made such progress that a large orifice had been eaten through the roof of the mouth, rendering it impossible for him to swallow. It was a terrible disease, yielding quickly to Dr. Gage's treatment, the orifice was now healed, he gained about 20 pounds in flesh, and altogether, he says he "feels like a new man." A most wonderful cure.—Concord Standard.

The above from the Standard is substantially true, and I remain well since my treatment, two years ago. ANNA YOUNG.

WATER WHEEL, W. T. Oct. 21, '91. Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.—Gentlemen: My wife suffered for over twenty years with rheumatism in her hips and legs. On reading your Almanac she positively believed that your Sarsaparilla would cure her. She has taken four bottles and is now as well as ever she was in her life. I feel it my duty to send you my sincere thanks. C. ENGBLOM.

Effectual Relief. The following is from a reliable and respected merchant of Montpelier.

"I have been afflicted with a bowel complaint for twenty years, and as often as one week I was unable to eat or drink. I was so weak that I could not do my business. My wife urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and from the first I commenced to take it, till now, I have been free of the complaint, and feel thankful that I have received efficient relief by taking the medicine." JOSEPH FRANK, of Fisher & Cullen, Montpelier, Vt.

Blood's Sarsaparilla is sold by C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 doses $1.00.

Advice to Mothers. Are you distressed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Wm. C. Hooper's Sorely's Teething Syrup. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Send your money there, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, loosens the tongue, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Wm. C. Hooper's Sorely's Teething Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is sold by all druggists throughout the world.
